Bessie's Books and Other Things

Bessie Sullivan
Library CEO

The second weekend of September was sporting Nirvana if that is how you are inclined. The Blue Jays were in a head to head series with the Boston Red Sox and were fighting to keep their place at the front of the American League East. In football, my team (Buffalo Bills) and my husband Doug's team (Oakland Raiders) played on Sunday. The U.S. Open held both the women's and the men's final on the weekend. In addition there was golf, pro-soccer MLS and EPL, as well as numerous world cup of hockey exhibition games. Both my children went back to school leaving us for the first time with an empty nest and not a lot of obligations past watching TV and folding the odd basket of laundry, in much reduced quantities, I might add.

My daughter has gone back to school to study pro sports, making me hyper aware of the current and historical issues surrounding pro and high level amateur sports. There is a disturbing pattern with some current and retired football players with a prevalence of brain damage, brain injury, and trauma induced brain diseases including Alzheimer's. The movie Concussion starring Will Smith is based on the true story of the accomplished pathologist Dr. Bennet Omalu who discovered chronic traumatic encephalopathy (CTE) in football players, and the uphill battle he faced in bringing the information to the public.

As more and more hockey and football players suffer health issues from repeated blows to the head, the safety of contact sports is challenged. With this knowledge, what motivates people to take such a risk with their overall health? LeBron James, the star forward with the Cleveland Cavaliers, sheds some light on why people would take the risk. "It's a safety thing. As a parent you protect your kids as much as possible…I needed a way out," he said. "My kids don't need a way out. They're all right. I needed a way out when I was a kid. I tried to do whatever it took to get out. That's my excuse." In essence, without the pressure of poverty his children are exempt from taking on the high risk behaviours he felt he had to.

The movie Race was shown by Those Other Movies in September, but if you missed it the library does have a copy as well as Concussion. It tells the incredible true story of Olympic legend Jesse Owens. In his epic quest to be the greatest athlete in history, Owens chooses to compete in the 1936 Berlin Olympics, where he must overcome not only elite competition, but also the brutal racial climate of Adolf Hitler's Germany. To me, sports do seem to be a microcosm of real life, the fight for racial integration has been no less complicated in sport than it was in society.

Watching the media coverage of the recent Summer Olympics has brought to the forefront gender inequality when human achievement is being reported. How women are portrayed in the context of sports whether in the media or in movies about sports could fill a whole other article. Whatever your game, you can search for books and movies in our catalogue to broaden your perspective on it and other issues surrounding sports.

Rabies clinics coming up

After a one-year absence, pet owners in Haliburton County again have a chance to protect their four-footed friends by ensuring their cats and dogs are vaccinated against rabies.

Two low-cost rabies vaccination clinics – on Sept. 29 and Oct. 1 – will be offered in Haliburton County this fall. The Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit is encouraging local pet owners to take advantage of the clinics and ensure their animals are properly protected against rabies.

"Many of us consider a dog or cat to be part of our family, so the low-cost rabies vaccination clinics provide an opportunity to give these pets the protection they deserve," says Frances Tsotsos, a public health inspector with the HKPR District Health Unit. "Rabies is fatal, so getting pets vaccinated is an important part of caring for animals and being a responsible pet owner."

The low-cost rabies vaccination clinics will be offered as follows:

- In Cardiff on Thursday, Sept. 29, from 6 to 7 p.m. at the Cardiff Community Centre (2747 Monck Rd.) The Faraday Animal Hospital is organizing the clinic. Pets must be 16 weeks of age and in good health to be vaccinated for rabies. Dogs and cats cost $25 each.
- In Haliburton Village on Saturday, Oct. 1, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Pet Valu Store (231 Highland Dr.) Dr. I. Arteaga, DVM, will be providing rabies vaccine for cats and dogs at a cost of $25 per animal (cash only). Limited microchips are also available, but for $25 extra.

To help the clinics run smoothly, pet owners are asked to have dogs on a leash and cats in a carrier.

Rabies is a serious virus that attacks the nerves and brain of an animal. People and pets may get rabies when an animal infected with rabies licks an open wound, or bites and scratches them. If left untreated, rabies is fatal. In this area, it is mandatory for pet owners to get their cats and dogs vaccinated for rabies. Failure to comply with mandatory rabies vaccination for pets can lead to a fine.

An added reason to get local pets vaccinated against rabies is the current outbreak of rabies being found in wildlife in Ontario, especially concentrated in the Hamilton-Brantford area.

Harvest Festival opens Irondale garden to community

Kids' games, displays, demonstrations, food and history on offer at church site

By Jenn Watt

Beside the historic church in Irondale grows a small community garden. In its third year of production, the plot produces veggies for the Minden food bank and has the potential of bringing together neighbours.

Not enough people know about the resource, says area resident Linda Code, which is why this weekend a special festival will be held on the church grounds, beside the garden.

"What we're doing is we want to bring the community together to make them aware that we have a community garden," says Code, the co-ordinator of the Irondale Family Harvest Festival scheduled from 12 to 4 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 24.

"We wanted to make people aware [the garden is] there. One way we could do this is set up a few displays highlighting some of the people in the area," she says.

A local oil painter will be coming with a sampling of her work for viewing and sale; a woman from Fleming College in Lindsay will have a display on local mammals; a man who raises chickens and grows garlic will have a booth; wagon rides with commentary on the area's history will run through the back roads; there will be a display on solitary bees; and a local spinner/weaver will be showing her work.

Kids' games and crafts will keep little ones entertained and there will be food for sale.

At 4 p.m. a community corn roast is planned followed at 7 p.m. by a concert by local country singer Ryan VanLieshout, which is $20.

"What we're trying to do is get a wide range of interests," Code says.

The event is sponsored by Bark Lake Cultural Developments, a charity committed to preserving the Irondale Church as well as promoting local history.

To that end, George Simmons will be discussing the area's history both in a hike in the morning (through Hike Haliburton), followed by the wagon rides.

"He'll do the talking and someone else will do driving down Irondale Road," says Code. Likely topics: the history of mining in the area; the railroads; and school.

For more information about the event, go to Irondale.ca or check them out at Facebook.com/IrondaleOntario.

Wild About Nature Gala: Seasons in the Wild

The Haliburton Highlands Land Trust announced a new venue, Pinestone Resort and Conference Centre, to hold its annual fundraising "Wild About Nature" Gala last week. This continues the partnership which began with the first HHLT Golf Tournament held at Pinestone this August. "The golf tournament was a huge success and we are thrilled to continue working with Pinestone as we gear up for our annual gala", states Pat Warren, HHLT director of resource development.

"Go Wild" at this year's Wild About Nature Gala being held on Sunday, Oct. 23. Guests will enjoy a specially prepared dinner, silent auction, live and toonie auction, and have a chance to visit with friends and supporters of the HHLT. Social hour and silent auction begin at 4:30 p.m., dinner at 6:00 p.m., with prizes and the announcement of this year's Enviro-heroes after dinner.

Our "Go Wild" theme this year is "Seasons in the Wild." The HHLT board encourages guests to reflect their favourite season in their attire. "Whether it is an outfit or just a special accessory, we are looking forward to seeing people have fun in showing off their favourite Season in the Wild," says HHLT board member Joan Duhaime.

Anyone wishing to attend the gala or make a donation to one of the special auctions can do so by contacting the Haliburton Highlands Land Trust by phone at 705-457-3700, or online at www.haliburtonlandtrust.ca. A healthy economy depends on a healthy environment!

Ten reasons to love October

Living Large

Humour by Steve Galea

I hate to rush things, but October will soon be upon us. For some, this is a depressing time – final proof that summer is gone. It's my favourite month, however. Here are 10 reasons why.

1. There is no such thing as Septemberfest.
2. The autumn colours make me feel truly superior to my colour blind friend.
3. The deer is on, so I don't have to make excuses for wanting to sit in a tree and watch the world go by.
4. I'm really good at hiding rakes.
5. It's the one month I'm allowed to buy an obscene amount of candy.
6. It's the one month when I can come to the door in a pirate's costume and no one bats an eye.
7. I get to go to the store and ask if they carry doe-in-heat urine with a straight face.
8. If you've left snow tires on from last year, you now look like a keener.
9. It's the last month before my bank account is depleted from winter fuel bills.
10. When people find a great moose print, for once they're not talking about something done by Bateman.

Dose of protection

With school back in session, homework won't be the only reason for area students to roll up their sleeves this fall.

School-based vaccinations will soon start for Grades 7 and 8 students in Haliburton County, Northumberland County and the City of Kawartha Lakes. This month, the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit will be sending vaccine information and consent forms home with students who are eligible to be immunized against three diseases – HPV, Hepatitis B and Meningitis. All three vaccines are publicly-funded and part of Ontario's recommended immunization schedule (www.ontario.ca/vaccines).

Parents and caregivers are encouraged to review the vaccine information and consider the benefits of having their children protected against vaccine-preventable diseases. If they have further questions, people can call the health unit at 1-866-888-4577 and speak to a vaccine-preventable disease nurse. They can also visit the health unit website (www.hkpr.on.ca).

"Vaccines are free, safe and effective, so give your children the protection they deserve by getting them immunized," says Marianne Rock, manager of communicable disease control, epidemiology and evaluation with the HKPR District Health Unit. "Vaccination is also convenient for busy families, as health unit nurses provide the three vaccines right in your child's school."

This fall, the biggest change will involve the HPV vaccine. Previously only available to female students in Grade 8, the HPV vaccine will now be available to all Grade 7 students as well – including boys. "HPV vaccine helps to protect against cancer, and medical experts have long been saying both girls and boys will benefit from it," Rock says. "Now with this change, we can provide equal access for both genders to a very effective HPV vaccine."

In addition to the HPV vaccine, the other vaccines being provided by the health unit include:

The Meningitis vaccine (Menactra) which helps to protect against Meningococcal disease, a bacteria spread from person-to-person through close contact with secretions from the nose or throat. The bacteria can cause serious illness such as meningitis (swelling of the tissue surrounding the brain and spinal cord) and meningococcemia (an infection of the blood and organs). Rock notes that this vaccine is one that students must have in order to attend school. Otherwise, they could be suspended unless they provide a valid exemption.

The Hepatitis B vaccine which protects against a virus that can cause permanent damage to the liver. Hep B is spread by blood and bodily fluids.

Students may also be exempted from vaccination for medical reasons, or by giving a sworn affidavit that immunization is against their conscience or religious belief. People are asked to contact the Health Unit for more details.

Positive rabid bat prompts warning from health unit

The Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit is warning residents to be cautious around bats after receiving confirmation that a bat tested positive for rabies in the Cobourg area.

Rabies is almost always a fatal disease caused by a virus that affects the central nervous system of warm-blooded animals, including humans. Rabies is transmitted when there is contact with the saliva of an infected animal through a bite, lick or scratch. A post-exposure vaccine is available for humans in the event of contact with a rabid animal.

In this case, the bat was picked up from the ground by a dog. The bat was then tested and found to be positive for the rabies virus. There was no human exposure and the dog had been vaccinated against rabies.

Bats are wild animals and should not be approached or touched. Never try to catch a bat or keep one as a pet. If you have bats living on your property and want to remove them, contact a professional pest control company or wildlife removal company.

"Contact with any wild animal, including bats, should be avoided," says Md Azad, a public health inspector with the HKPR District Health Unit. "It's never worth the risk."

Bats in the home can be a nuisance and potential hazard to you and your family. Bats are also capable of transmitting rabies to humans and other animals. Although most animal bites are readily apparent, bites inflicted by bats on, an infant, a child or those with cognitive impairments, may not be felt or leave any visible bite marks.

Please follow these instructions when it comes to bats:

- If you suspect you may have been bitten or had contact with a bat, report this to both your family doctor and the HKPR District Health Unit at 1-866-888-4577.
- If you discover a bat outdoors that is injured, acting strange or dead, do not touch it.
- If you are bitten or scratched by a bat that is discovered in your home, leave the room, close the door and contact a wildlife removal company. Do not touch a bat with your bare hands. If there was no human contact (bite or scratch) open a window and allow it to get out.
- As bats can transmit the rabies virus to domestic pets such as dogs and cats, ensure pet vaccinations are up to date. The HKPR is working with area veterinarians to offer low-cost rabies clinics for dogs and cats in October. Visit www.hkpr.on.ca for dates and locations.
- If you suspect your pets or livestock have come in contact with a rabid animal, contact the Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA) at 905-513-2850.
- Bat-proof the home. If bats are found in the home, seek advice from an animal control or wildlife conservation authority

To learn more about rabies, call the health unit at 1-866-888-4577 and speak with a public health inspector.

HOCKEY SCHOOL TO OPEN

Hockey action will take over in Haliburton next week in the midst of the recent summer heat. More than sixty boys from "Haliburton Hockey Haven Boys Camp" will hit the ice for daily sessions under the expert instruction of several famous N.H.L. stars.

Wren Blair, President of Haliburton Hockey Haven, together with his partners Jim Gregory Secretary-Treasurer, and "Hap" Emms, Vice President, discloses today that many prominent N.H.L. stars will be attending the camp this summer. Brit Selby, N.H.L. "rookie of the year", with Toronto Maple Leafs, Kenny Hodge, Chicago Black Hawks right wing star, Bernie Parent, sensational young net-minder with the Boston Bruins, and defenceman Bobby Orr, one of the biggest names in hockey today, will be in attendance for the entire summer. Bill Gadsby, Detroit Red Wing All Star defenceman, will be a guest instructor for the first two weeks in July, and will be followed by Toronto Maple Leaf star "Red" Kelly who will attend for a five week guest appearance. Flashy Toronto right winger Ron Ellis will guest instruct the final two weeks in August. Five instructors will be in attendance during all sessions.

Local contractor Dwain Barry announced that the Camp site at Koshlong Lake will be completed by the middle of this week. "These people have built a camp that is a credit to Haliburton County" said Mr. Barry. "They have spared no expense, and when they get finished, it's beautiful buildings and grounds, together with the hockey instruction, will provide a boy with the finest holiday available anywhere".

Many local boys from the district have registered for hockey sessions on a commuting basis. Jim Gregory, Secretary of the company, says they currently have registered 12 boys from Haliburton, 14 from Minden, 10 from Coboconk, six from Kinmount and four from Bancroft, plus many from cottages in the area. "More and more applications are arriving daily from boys in the district, both residents and cottagers" said Gregory, "and they will commute daily from their homes or cottages to take the hockey sessions". Wren Blair (whose parens both come from the Haliburton district) first came up with the idea to locate a hockey camp in this community. He and his brother Lyle purchased the property on Koshlong Lake two years ago for the camp site. Shortly afterward his brother was transferred to England by Proctor and Gamble Ltd. where he holds a prominent position in their advertising department. Wren purchased his brother's land equity and took Gregory and Emms in as his partners in the venture. They established an incorporated company under the name of Haliburton Youth Developments Ltd., operating "Haliburton Hockey Haven Boys Camp".

Blair recently signed a four-year contract as General Manager of the Minnesota North Stars of the N.H.L. under the league's expansion program. This past year his Oshawa Generals went to the Memorial Cup finals against the Edmonton Oil Kings, and in 1958 he led the Whitby Dunlops to the World Hockey Championships at Oslo, Norway.

Gregory is General Manager of the Toronto Marlboros of the O.H.A. Junior "A" league and is Farm Director of the Toronto Maple Leafs amateur system. He coached the "Marlies" to a Memorial Cup Championship in 1963-64.

Emms is General Manager of the N.H.L. Boston Bruins and coached three Memorial Cup winning teams at Barrie and Niagara Falls.

All three are friends in the hockey business and have pooled their resources and hockey knowledge to bring this program to the area.

Mr. Blair pointed out that the sessions at the Haliburton Arena are open to the public, and visitors are welcome. "We will have many stars on hand that are well known to the public and we welcome people to visit with us" said Wren. "People may still enroll their boys and may do so throughout the summer as long as we have openings." "We hope to be a good addition to the community" he said. "We also welcome people to come out and visit our camp site on Koshlong Lake about 2½ miles from Donald."

"Haliburton Hockey Haven Boys Camp" will be the location of the weekly Haliburton Rotary Club dinner next Thursday, July 7th with close to 40 Rotarians being entertained for the evening at the camp site!

S. S. Promotions And Picnic

On June 19 the Haliburton United Church Sunday School held Promotion Exercises during the regular Church service. Thirty-three boys and girls were given recognition for perfect and almost perfect attendance at Sunday School during the past year.

Miss Jwayne Roberts sang a beautiful solo. A farewell card signed by all the pupils and teachers was presented to Rev. Petrie by Junior LaPorte.

In the afternoon, the Sunday School Picnic was held at the Northern Eagle Tent and Trail camp grounds. It was a beautiful spot on a lovely summer day for the many pupils, teachers and parents who enjoyed the races and picnic supper. Tihs was the closing activity for this season and we shall see you all in September.

While on the picnic we heard of the young men and women, many of whom are students, who stay at the youth hostel, and who come from all over the world. A glance at the register shows such addresses as Australia, Denmark, England, India, Pakistan, South Africa. With such gracious hosts as Mr. and Mrs. Murray Robertson, they will carry with them a good impression of this corner of Canada.

Change Of Business

Dear Friends:

It is with pleasure I am able to inform you I have purchased the Newell & McInerney Insurance Agency effective July 1, 1966.

As you know I have personally been handling all insurance for this firm since the fall of 1958, and after nearly eight years in the insurance field I feel confident you will realize that experience is very necessary, especially with the problems confronting everyone to-day, particularly in the automotive branch of this business.

I will do my very best to continue to give you a personalized service wherever and whenever possible, and look forward to your support in my new venture.

Yours sincerely,
Mark S. Vasey.

Sunderland Man Drowns In Lake

HALIBURTON (ENS) — A 24 year-old Sunderland man, a non-swimmer, drowned Sunday evening in about six feet of water at Silver Beach, Lake Kashagawigamog Lake, four miles south of here.

Dead is Carl Leslie Parish who went to the beach about 8 p.m. accompanied by several companions from the Woodville, Sunderland and Haliburton areas.

Provincial Police said some of the party were non-swimmers. They were wading when Parish walked off a deep bank into five to six feet of water. He was pulled ashore almost instantly, but was pronounced dead. There will be no inquest, police said.

Woman Hurt In Tumble From Auto

HALIBURTON (ENS) — Mrs. Arthur Gibbs of Harcourt is in satisfactory condition at the village Red Cross Hospital with a broken leg and multiple cuts and bruises to her back.

She suffered the injuries when she fell from a car travelling about 30 m.p.h. early Sunday.

Provincial Police said Mrs. Gibbs was travelling in a car driven by her husband when she fell from the vehicle onto the pavement. She broke her leg in two places.

The accident occurred on Highway 648, just west of Wilberforce.

Damage is estimated at $200 after an accident last Friday in which a truck driven by John Smith of Haliburton, ran off the road and flipped over, coming to rest in a ditch. The accident occurred north of Haliburton on Highway 530.

Marjorie Cook of Minden, and Deborah Best of Haliburton were drivers of cars which collided last Friday seven miles west of Haliburton. Police said damage totalled $400.

Rev. And Mrs. Petrie Honoured

On Monday evening last a large number of members of the Haliburton United Church gathered in the Church Hall to honour the Rev. George Petrie and Mrs. Petrie.

Events of this nature are often tearful and tedious, but this occasion while providing many mirthful moments was also a fitting farewell to two very fine persons.

Ronald J. Curry acted as chairman for the evening and got things off on the right foot with a lively sing song. In his opening remarks the chairman stated that six years ago we welcomed the Petrie's at Beaconbrook and a short time later at the induction service, and now again we were meeting to express our appreciation for their many contributions and efforts over what seems to be a very short six years.

Mr. Curry remarked that this should be a happy occasion, not that we are happy to see them leave but because of our association with them, the many friendships and lasting impressions that they have left while living with us.

One of the entertainment features of the evening was a song guessing contest presented under the direction of Mrs. Elda McKnight. Eight different songs were portrayed by the costumes and actions and all participants really played their parts well. Those representing various songs were Miss Nadean Casey, Misses Susan Sedgwick, Pat Davidson, Dawn Stewart, Mrs. Eva McKay, Mrs. Jan Shipley, Mrs. Jean Casey, Miss Julie Woodcock, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Webb and Mrs. Betty O'Neill. We learn from Mrs. McKnight that Mrs. Flora Walling was responsible for the designing of most of the costumes worn.

When investing in equities, think like 'the cheerful billionaire'

Thinking Money

Elizabeth O'Connor

People invest in equities in anticipation of financial growth through capital gains and dividends. I am sure the mere mention of the phrase "the market" conjures up images of gambling, crashes and losses to many novice investors. The greatest paradox of the market is that "slow and steady" usually wins the race rather than short-term trading. The calmer the investor, the better he or she does; and the less time one spends worrying about the market, the wiser his or her decisions.

In the eight months between mid-May 2015 and mid-January 2016, the Toronto Stock Exchange dropped over 24 per cent, shaving some 3,700 points from the index. I happened to be on holiday during the weeks it hit its lowest point. On my return, two of my clients let me know the sky had fallen in – one was convinced I had timed my holiday purposely, and the other was sure my holiday was the cause of the market drop! In the four months since, we have regained close to 18 per cent. All factors seem to indicate that we are in for continuing good markets.

Another example of the paradox of the market came up while I was writing this article. If you had $500,000 in the market Monday, May 9, by day's end you would have lost $5,000 of it. By Tuesday's close, you had your $5,000 back, plus a profit of over $2,800. If you were constantly watching the market, Monday was an extremely depressing day for you, but Tuesday was over-the-top euphoric. What a crazy way to live.

Considered one of the wisest investors of all time, Warren Buffett may also be the calmest investor of all time. The "cheerful billionaire" is deliberate, modest, kind, humorous and self-effacing – in short, the polar opposite of one's vision of the white-knuckled investor. An article I read on him years ago indicated his strategies were more company-oriented than market-oriented. One example of his belief in calm, company-thinking was illustrated in the early 1960s when the American Express Company found itself embroiled in a scandal entirely not of its own making. Rather than shirk responsibility, the company took the high road, costing itself hundreds of millions of dollars and seeing its stock drop by over 50 per cent. While everyone else was dumping the stock, Mr. Buffett was buying, in large part because he recognized the value of the company and admired the honourable way the top brass at Amex chose to handle the crisis.

There is value in being company-focused. Let's suppose you are invested in companies that consistently pay dividends based on profits and these dividends increase year after year. In year one, your return (the dividend) is three per cent, year two, four per cent, then five per cent. What you know is your companies are doing great, profits are increasing every year and your portfolio is growing. Now, even if, during that same period, the market has seen zero growth, your original investment is up over 11 per cent and, once the market starts climbing, the dividend-paying growth companies will see the earliest and largest gains.

The lesson from all of this? Don't worry, be happy.

‘Small Towns – Big Stories’ theme for Conference

Ontario’s Highlands Tourism Organization’s (OHTO) annual regional tourism conference and AGM, OH!Tourism Summit, is headed to Lanark County this Oct. 24 to 25, for two days filled with thought provoking and engaging programming designed to support OHTO’s innovative content marketing strategy for promotion of the rural region. Registration is officially open for the conference, taking place in Perth at Code’s Mill on the Park and Best Western Plus Perth.

OHTO announced their plans to fully embrace a content marketing approach in the spring of 2016, sharing their new Come Wander Brand Strategy with tourism stakeholders across the region. This innovative approach to destination marketing will be backed up by this year’s OH!Tourism Summit, with the focus of the conference on telling the big stories of the small towns across the region as a way to engage the audience and inspire visitation.

“Online content is a major influencer on consumer purchasing decisions,” says Nicole Whiting, executive director of OHTO. “The best way to get noticed is to have a great story to tell and the tools to share it. This conference is our opportunity to bring cutting edge experts in the field of marketing to our tourism industry to help them cut through the advertising clutter and be heard.”

The lineup for OH!Tourism Summit is stellar, being headlined by not one, but two, inspiring keynote addresses. On the first day, high performance specialist, Yvonne Camus, will share her experience achieving success in the most unlikely of environments. Delegates will take a look into the leadership, tenacity, and collaboration that drove an average businesswoman and mom to outperform U.S. Navy Seals in the popular TV program Eco-Challenge by television icon Mark Burnett.

Day Two will kick off with a presentation by Jeffrey Davis, a thought leader in the field of creativity and productivity. Author of a pioneering book on writing and the creative process, and a veteran strategist, Davis will share insight about branding and how strategic branding can help to attract more customers and create a community of raving fans.

“What started in 2011 as a one-day gathering of tourism operators and stakeholders from across Ontario’s Highlands has expanded into this two-day, must attend conference,” says Melissa Marquardt, chairwoman of OHTO’s board of directors. “The hard work of the OHTO staff and our tourism partners has grown the OH!Tourism Summit into two days jammed full of practical information designed to equip our industry with the tools to not only keep up, but thrive in today’s tourism market.”

Workshops will be delivered by marketing experts and tourism leaders, such as Shopify and Search Engine People, and feature topics such as how to develop stories and generate engaging content, capturing and sharing images more effectively through your smartphone, and improving your digital marketing in just 20 minutes a day.

If esteemed keynote speakers, industry leading workshop hosts, and a trailblazing approach to marketing isn’t enough, OH!Tourism Summit will also be providing plenty of networking opportunities. Networking breaks are interspersed throughout the daily programming and delegates will also have the opportunity to mingle, kick back and experience a taste of the rural roots lifestyle enjoyed across the region during the Tastes of Lanark County evening event.

This year’s conference is being hosted in partnership with Lanark County, Valley Heartland Community Futures Development Corporation, and Lanark County Tourism Association. Early bird registration for the two-day event, open to all tourism-related stakeholders in Ontario’s Highlands, is available until Sept. 30 at a special rate of $86+HST. As an additional bonus, the first 50 people to register will receive a free gas card. There is no fee to attend the AGM portion of the conference, scheduled on Oct. 24 from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

Full conference details, including registration and detailed program information, can be found at www.ohtourismsummit.ca.

Colourfest to offer true fall festival

By Jenn Watt

Haliburton Village will be transformed into an authentic autumnal tableau for this year's Colourfest complete with pumpkin rolling, scarecrow building and fall food for sale at the farmers' market.

Hitch a ride on a horse-drawn wagon from the park to main street and check out the deals in town; watch the kids as they leap and bound in the Kids Zone bouncy castle; listen to the many street performers as they sing and play for your entertainment.

Colourfest is an annual fall celebration in the town, which has changed shape over the years, but has always maintained its focus on family fun, says volunteer Gail Stelter.

"The underlying theme is family. It is a family fall festival, but the importance of having something like the farmers' market is that yes, even the seniors enjoy strolling through the market and watching the kids on the bouncy things, bringing their grandchildren to the pumpkin rolling contest and that type of thing," she says.

"With our buskers and the variety of talent we have, we think you could easily come and spend the whole time no matter what your age and find something to do."

This year, Colourfest is Saturday, Oct. 1, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. on York and Highland Streets and in Head Lake Park.

Among the long list of things to see and do: Time Travellers vintage cars; minnow races run by the fish hatchery; pontoon boat rides sponsored by RPM; firefighters' demonstration at Rotary Beach; Wee Care kids' activities; hospital auxiliary booth; Lions Club barbecue; and St. George's Anglican Church dinner.

Scarecrow building will be run by the Haliburton Highlands Museum. The idea first came to Dysart's recreation co-ordinator, Andrea Mueller, who is working on Colourfest on behalf of the municipality, when she saw a similar project in Wilberforce. All of the materials will be provided for anyone wanting to make a scarecrow.

"There will be prizes for kids and adults … everything will be provided," says Mueller.

"If they want to take it home with them, they can," she says.

Organizers are looking for volunteers to judge the scarecrow contest, as well as with registration of the Time Travellers; handing out balloons; and helping people onto the horse-drawn wagon.

The pumpkin rolling contest is sponsored by the Rotary Club. The pumpkins are free and at the end the kids can take home their pumpkins – plus there are prizes to be won. You need to register for the contest ahead of time and the races begin at 1 p.m.

Street performers and buskers include Shout Sisters choir, the music of Chad Ingram, Haliburton Dance Academy, Shannon Neville on fiddle and many more. Organizers are still open to new talent. Contact Mueller at the Dysart municipal office.

To find out more about Colourfest, watch for advertisements in next week's Fall Tour special, or go to Facebook.com/ColourfestHaliburtonVillage. You can also call Mueller at 705-457-1740.

Kids give their pumpkins a good push down York Street during Colourfest last year. This year, the event is happening Saturday, Oct. 1 in Haliburton Village.

Betty and the Bobs back in Minden

By Chad Ingram

Quirky, eclectic and energetic, Betty and the Bobs will bring their unique style back to Minden on Sept. 24 for a dance at the Minden Hills Community Centre.

Formed in 2000, the band is a collaboration of Toronto-based musicians, each with their own solo careers. It's the third year they'll be coming to Minden to play the Blister Ball, which coincides with the Hike Haliburton Festival.

"Betty and the Bobs shows are a whole bunch of fun," says member Suzie Vinnick. "It's like a variety show and we get to play a bunch songs we don't usually play in our solo shows. Sometimes we do more listening-type shows where folks are seated and sometimes we play dances like the one we'll be doing in Haliburton."

Like most of the band's members, Vinnick is a multi-instrumentalist; a singer, bassist guitarist and mandolin player.

Other members are Soozi Schlanger on vocal and fiddle; Katherine Wheatley on vocals and guitar; David Woodhead on vocals, bass and mandolin; Wendell Ferguson on guitar and vocals; Rich Greenspoon on drums; and David Matheson on piano and vocals.

Attendees can expect a danceable mix of country, blues, R&B, gospel, old jazz as well some original and sometimes whacky songs.

"This will be our third time playing the Hike Haliburton Festival and we're so excited to be back again," Vinnick says. "And it's a treat for us to get to play a dance again – we get to pull out some of our more dance-able faves!"

Many of the band's members have played in Haliburton County in solo shows at various times and look forward to coming to the area.

"I personally love spending time in Haliburton and am so glad my musical travels take me there so often," Vinnick says. "It's such a beautiful area and folks are incredibly supportive of music any time I come up to play."

Hosted by the Haliburton County Folk Society, the show starts at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $25 per person or $20 for folk society members and students. They can be purchased online at www.haliburtonfolk.com, at Halco Electronics in Haliburton Village and at Organic Times in Minden.

Improving the community through Victim Services

By Darren Lum

Giving back and empowering victims is at the root of volunteering for Victim Services for Kawartha Haliburton program, says a local resident.

Marc Jones, 41, of Haliburton finds a great deal of fulfillment in volunteering since he joined this year in April.

Jones, an auxiliary officer for the Haliburton Highlands OPP for the past two years, is compelled to help people, but his volunteering also stems from the goal to give back to his community.

"I also saw the need for volunteers. I want to do what I can to make our community a better place," he said.

Before he joined Victim Services, Jones only knew in theory what Victim Services did through his police volunteering. Where his auxiliary work finished was where the volunteers with Victim Services would begin.

"I would see Victim Services volunteers responding to these crisis situations and I would see how compassionate they were and gave their time and how well organized and how vital they were to the assistance. That's what brought me into it," he said. "Really, I wanted to better myself too and do the things I saw them doing."

The Victim Services program provides immediate support for victims of crime and can offer financial assistance to victims of violent crime when not available through other sources. It will assist victims of serious assault, sexual assault, homicide, human trafficking, domestic violence, hate crimes and attempted murder. Every volunteer is screened and receives at least 45 hours of training, both online and in class. Volunteers are required to provide a comprehensive report following incidents.

Jones considers his work with Victim Services and the OPP as the "full circle" of service essential to helping victims move forward from tragedy. It gives him satisfaction to not just respond as an auxiliary officer, but to also help following an incident of "tragic circumstances."

Anyone who is apprehensive about volunteering because of the nature of the incidents that require Victim Services can be assured the training and support are excellent, he said.

"If you have the passion to help people just don't be afraid of the circumstances you'll find yourself in because the training is really good," he said.

The six weeks of training is thorough and the program will follow-up with volunteers, who always attend scenes in pairs.

"There are support mechanisms. You're never on a call by yourself. You're always with someone who is experienced. You have a team leader," he said.

The Haliburton County employee and auxiliary officer is one of just three volunteers for Haliburton. With a large geographic area to cover, it's important to have many volunteers available to ensure victims get help promptly.

"It's not easy without having quite a few people to draw from," he said.

Victim Services executive director Laura Proctor, who has 16 years of experience in outreach with victims, most recently in Peterborough's Victim Services, said the program isn't anything without the volunteers.

"Our on-scene volunteers are paramount because we are a tiny team of two frontline staff and myself. We provide support 24-7 so we get calls all hours of the day so it's our volunteers that really alleviate staff from responding 24-7. We just couldn't possibly run the program without our volunteers," she said.

There are 22 volunteers, who fall into two categories: retired social workers and emergency services professionals such as firefighters and police officers, or students and individuals who are eager to learn and build their resumes for careers. Jones is working towards a career in law enforcement.

"It's probably one of the best things you can do," he said.

Proctor said the key characteristics for volunteers is they are committed, detailed, caring, understanding, empathetic and unafraid to "walk with somebody during probably the most upsetting and darkest moments."

She adds there is a push to increase volunteers in Haliburton County because of the 30,000 additional residents who make the area home for the summer.

"We obviously see an influx of crime and tragic circumstances with all the lakes. An increase of car accidents on Highway 35 there. In the summer months there is a higher rate of accidents ... than the winter," she said.

Proctor said the program is key to the support for victims.

"We make the police officers' jobs a lot easier. A lot of the time Victim Services goes unnoticed. We slide in on scene and slide out and do some of the hard work. I think it is really important to have somebody there that is knowledgeable for victims," she said.

> "If you have the passion to help people just don't be afraid of the circumstances you'll find yourself in because the training is really good."
> — Marc Jones

Originally from Huntsville, Jones moved here with his wife more than three years ago from Mississauga. He said people with a background in emergency services such as a police officer or firefighter are ideal because of their history dealing with crisis. However, anyone who cares about others can be an effective volunteer.

"As long as you have compassion and care about people it's pretty much all you need really," he said.

OPP liaison officer Const. Tim Negus, who has been with the OPP since 1996, said Victim Services carries on with the care and support to victims after the police leave a scene.

"If they need some additional support that we can't offer them at a policing level then we can turn to Victim Services. They can support them in the immediate crisis, but they can also refer them to additional services and resources. They can help them through the time of need," he said. "It's all geared to helping people get through the crisis and get back on their feet successfully."

To become a volunteer, contact client services coordinator Whitney Rickard at 705-878-5505 or email whitney.khvs@victim-services.org.

Alan Roe, a cottager on Lake Wenona, works on a painting at Furnace Falls during the Highlands East Plein Air Arts Festival, which was from Sept. 8 to 11 and included sites all over Highlands East. Roe, who has painted since he was a child, had not painted for 10 years before participating for the first time in the festival./DARREN LUM Staff

Above right, Salerno Lake resident Jacqueline Proud, who recently transitioned to full-time from seasonal, focuses on her painting of the Irondale Church during the Highlands East Plein Air Arts Festival. This was the first year Proud has participated in the festival. She had not painted for two years until this event. Being outside painting is something she really enjoys.

Brushes and paint belong to the Highlands East Plein Air Arts Festival participant Alan Roe.

Subaru sponsor of HHHSF radiothon

Haliburton Highlands Health Services Foundation thanked Minden Subaru for being the presenting sponsor for this week's radiothon – Thursday, Sept. 22 and Friday, Sept. 23 from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Over the last nine years, radiothons have raised $267,000 for the foundation. This year, funds raised go to the bone densitometry project to bring care closer to home. (The goal is $175,000 and so far the foundation has raised $71,000.)

At radiothon headquarters at the Haliburton hospital, lunch on Thursday will be provided by Smokin' Jakes, on Friday it will be Into the Blue Bakery and part of the proceeds from lunch go to the radiothon. You can also view new Subaru vehicles under the Subaru tent, fill in a ballot to win Ringo the Raccoon, check out the auction items and shop till you drop at the Haliburton Auxiliary Gift Shop.
